

Plenvu® bowel preparation for full colonoscopy – appointments after 11 am

In order to see inside the bowel, you must drink Plenvu® laxative. This will ensure that the doctor can see the lining of the bowel. If there is any bowel motion in the bowel, it can obscure the view. If the bowel is not empty, the procedure may be cancelled and may have to be repeated.

Your appointment time is a check in time only. Delays are unavoidable. Expect to be in the GI Unit for up to 5 hours. We are grateful for your patience in this matter.

Medication Advice

If you are taking regular laxatives for constipation, stop taking them for 2 days before the test.

If you are on diabetic tablets or insulin, please contact the GI Unit for advice.

If you are on a daily fluid restriction due to kidney or heart failure, please contact the GI Unit for advice.

If you are taking Warfarin, Dabigatran (Pradaxa®), Apixaban (Eliquis®) Rivaroxaban (Xarelto), Edoxaban (Lixiana®), Clopidogrel, Ticagrelor (Brilique®) or Prasugral (Effient®) please contact the GI Unit for advice.

Stop taking iron e.g. Galfer®, Ferrograd® or multivitamins for 1 week before the procedure.

Stop anti-diarrhoea tablets for 5 days before the procedure.

Continue all of your prescribed medication unless instructed otherwise.

If you take the contraceptive pill do not take one hour before, during or one hour after Plenvu® administration.

Always leave 1 hour between taking any medication and drinking the Plenvu®. This gives your medication time to be absorbed properly.

Two days before the full colonoscopy

You can eat cheese, eggs, tofu, white bread only, white pasta, plain yogurt, plain chicken or fish, ham, mashed potato, ice cream or custard, butter, margarine seedless jam, gravy or white sauce. If you are diabetic adhere to a sugar free diet. You can drink what you like. The reason for eating a bland diet is to start the process of clearing out the bowel. These are low fibre foods.

Do not eat red meat, sausages, rashers, brown bread, brown rice, baked beans, vegetables, salads, fruit, seeds, nuts, porridge, chips or any breakfast cereal. Avoid these foods as they can remain in your bowel. These are high fibre foods.

The day before full colonoscopy

Eat a low fibre breakfast and light lunch. You can choose from the above.

Do not eat any more food after 3 pm. If you eat after that time the laxative may not work as well.

Drink clear liquids only for the rest of the day. These include water, clear soups with no bits in it, Oxo, Bovril, tea and coffee without milk, fizzy drinks, barley's lemon, fruit juices with no bits in it, green tea, orange cordial but no blackcurrant. Drinking a good variety of fluids will stop you from becoming dehydrated. It will also help the preparation to work really well.

How to make up Plenvu® and when to drink it

At 10 pm open the box. There are 2 packets inside: Dose 1 and dose 2.

Open the packet that says dose 1 and empty the powder into 500 ml of water (half a litre). Stir it until it dissolves and sip it slowly over the next hour. Drinking the preparation cold and with a straw may help you to drink it. It can take a few minutes for the powder to fully dissolve. Drink an additional 1500 ml of fluids after Plenvu®. The extra fluids will help the Plenvu® to work better.

After drinking Plenvu®, you should expect to have diarrhoea, some cramps, abdominal discomfort and a sore bottom. This is normal. You can use some Sudocream® or Vaseline® around your back passage. Stay near a toilet.

The morning of the procedure

At 6 am in the morning please open the packet marked dose 2. Open the two packets of powder and empty into 500 ml (half a litre) of water. Wait until it dissolves and sip it over an hour. It is ok to alternate between sipping the Plenvu® and clear fluids. It is important is that you drink it all. If possible try to drink another additional 1500 ml of fluids after Plenvu®.

Do not eat any food or drink anything for 4 hours before the procedure time. This is particularly important if you are also having a gastroscopy (stomach test).

If you have decided to have sedation for your procedure, you must have an adult available to collect you from the GI Unit. You cannot drive home or go home alone. You will still be under the influence of the sedative medication.

The results of the procedure will be discussed with you before you go home.
